

CHAPTER IV CONCLUSION

Deng Xiao Ping as the highest leader of the PRC announced that China as one country imposed two systems. The Socialist System and the Capitalist system. The reason Deng Xiao Ping puts it is that China already has territories with capitalist systems such as Hong Kong, Taiwan and Macao. The three areas have been working well, so there is no need to be a socialist system. Meanwhile, the rest of China's territory is using the Socialist system and is already running well, so the two systems have been enforced in China without any problems.

Other political reasons that still exists, namely:

1. To soften the attitude of the capitalist state

Weakening pressure from abroad, especially from Western capitalist countries. The Communist China always gets pressure from the capitalist country, especially the United States. This foreign pressure is very detrimental to China's development. By imposing two systems within a single state, he wanted to show the capitalist state that China could in fact also be a capitalist state. The capitalist or socialist is only a system of governmental management and economy, not a reason for hostility.

2. Want to open up to the outside world

The philosophical basis most likely to unite Socialism and Capitalism is the Yin Yang principle and the philosophy of the Organizational Process of the Teachings of the Prophet. The Yin Yang principle teaches that two contradictory things like Socialism and Capitalism can be used together in one country. Organ Process Philosophy teaches that life is always changing, in process. The fact that there is now, some areas of China using the capitalist system and the life of its people prosperous, such as Hong Kong and Taiwan. Other parts of China use the socialist system, which slowly catches up in economics.

3. Cultural Considerations

Capitalism and Communism are the ideas of Western philosophy, not of Chinese philosophy. As long as the Chinese people do not return to their own philosophy as long as it will be trapped in endless international conflicts. The thinkers of the Modern Confucianism (after 1980) teach the Chinese to return to their own wisdom, and not be drawn into thinking that is inconsistent with Chinese personalities and culture. The Chinese generally understand the philosophy of the Organic Process and the Yin Yang principle of the teachings of the Holy Prophet. The Chinese community is very proud of its own history and culture. If they succeed with the Socialist system or the Capitalist system, they remain dissatisfied. In terms of food alone Chinese people boast of his own work, especially in the Chinese state administration system feel much more experience. The term "two systems in one country" is an exit to return to the Chinese culture.

4. Failure of the Marxist Socialist system

The failure of the socialism system implemented in many countries made the Chinese people to change direction. The famine of famine in China in the seventies was the result of a rigorous system of equity. The system has caused the productive spirit of the peasants and workers to become weak. Deng Xiao Ping realized that some Chinese people could not live in the Liberal Capitalist system. Marxist socialism, however, can not be maintained anymore because it is not effective in saving the Chinese economy.

The leaders of China also see the development of increasingly powerful capitalism. This fact proves the truth of Lenin's opinion that capitalism will not collapse. If China still persists with its stand against Capitalism, it will collapse on its own. PRC dare to reverse, enter the world of Capitalism with the Process of Organic Philosophy. The solution is to apply two systems at once as a renewal step. In the next process must be found the right system to solve the economic problems of China. The Process of Organic Philosophy has resumed in China, Marxist determinism is abandoned.

Both systems of Socialism and Capitalism actually have their respective advantages. If both systems are shared in different areas there will be many benefits. Residents can choose a system that matches their personal abilities and attributes. There are people who do not like to compete, but like to work together. This man will choose a socialist system, and he chooses to live in an area that uses a socialist system. There are also people who feel strong, creative, and competitive. It is more appropriate to live in a capitalist region. The concept of

Yin Yang gives space to all differences and contradictions because it is a factor of the emergence of a dynamic life. With two systems applied together in one country, the Chinese will build China