

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

In September 2015, Germany faced the huge number of refugees who were looking for the asylum seekers. There approximately more than 1 million refugees put Germany as their destination in the European. The refugees came from conflict countries that the problems have not finished yet, such as Syria, Palestine, Pakistan, Eritrea, and several African countries.

Moreover, the Federal Government of Germany has the annual report of their foreign policy related to the migrant, asylum seekers, and refugees. In 2014 and 2015 annual report there were several programs and rules that will guide the refugees in Germany from the facilities of free shelter, learning German, and the opportunity to get job in Germany.

However, the huge number of refugees in Germany caused internal problem in the internal level of Germany. There are many criminalizations in Germany when refugees live there. We know that most of the original country of the refugee, came from the Middle East countries. We know that the culture in Middle East different from German culture. In Middle East countries women tend to cover all their body, in contrast with Germany who are free to use what they want to use. This cultural shock created the high number of rapes in Germany.

The high number of refugees were not only raising the number of rape cases but also emerging the anti-migrant movement. The differences of these cases are the rapist mostly attacked the local citizen and the anti-migrant are assaulted the migrant including refugees and asylum seekers; in fact Germany is a country of anti-discrimination including the discrimination against races.

With the refugee crisis in Germany, the government accepted the refugees to be a part of their country with several reasons which influenced the government to take decision regarding the refugees. From the deep analysis about the chapter before, the author concluded that the refugees are a miracles for Germany. In the domestic capacity, the refugees function as the tool of the chancellor of Germany to raise vote in parliament, in the economic capacity the refugees had contributed in the Germany labor market and helped them to build the economy. In addition, the refugee's crisis helps the Germany proving himself as de facto EU leader. With the values of their leadership, Germany told and showed to all EU members and the entire world about their capacity as the EU leader.