

PERSEPSI PETANI TERHADAP KONSERVASI LAHAN PANTAI DI
KECAMATAN SANDEN KABUPATEN BANTUL

FARMER PERCEPTION ON COASTAL LAND CONSERVATION IN SANDEN, BANTUL

Suprianto

Dr. Aris Slamet Widodo, SP. MSc / Dr. Susanawati, SP. MP

Program Studi Agribisnis Fakultas Pertanian

Universitas Muhammadiyah Yogyakarta

ABSTRACT

This research aiming to review the profile of coastal farmers, coastal conservation techniques and farmers perception on coastal land conservation in Sanden, Bantul. Sample determined by purposive in Sanden district. Primary data collected through interview methods using constructed questionnaires of 65 active farmers at Kelompok Tani Manunggal. Data analyzed by description. Productive age of Sanden Farmers majority are 35-68 years and male, high school graduated with farming as permanent job and some other are fishermen and ranchers, also planting horticultural crops 200-500m from the coast area. Coastal land conservation technique applied vegetatively by applying hallway cultivation system, grass lane, windbreaker, watering wells and irrigation systems. Farmers perception of coastal land conservation are categorized Farmers revealed that coastal land conservation plays an important role of farming sustainability in coastal lands.

Keywords: Conservation, Coastal land, Perception