

ABSTRACT

All the conservative parties in Europe; French, Nederland, Germany, Italy, and others of European Union members have been taking many advantages from any problems in European Union since 2010 until 2016. All of the problems, not only from internal problem, but also from external problem that occurred by European Union become a weapon for a conservative party to get back their society support in Europe. The increasing of unemployment from all of European Union members and austerity policy create a great momentum for conservative group to support anti-euro in Europe society and eurosceptic in order to go out from European Union, then become an independent country as like as in the conservative theory from Edmun Burke. He said that an ideal society is a good organize society (Burke, 1968). In order to create an ideal society, it needs a government that has a dependent power and right policy that will ensure the same treatment for every individuals. Not only from internal problem of European Union, the problem also comes from the external that support a conservative party resurgence, for example is many muslim immigrants come to European. It makes an impact of multiculturalism failure in Europe that influence a discriminatory action in the society and appears a radicalism action from minority groups. This problems trigger an islamphobia phenomenon in Europe society.
