

ABSTRACT

The military brings an unique politic in the Government of Egypt. The uniqueness is due to the ability of the military to survive and take control Government of Egypt during several period leadership. The Military Role in Egypt Failed Democratization in 2011-2013, because of internal and external factors. The existence of interest groups which the military positioned itself as the ruler of superiority which carries only the interests of his group. The military has intervened in the political sphere by taking over power temporarily. The military uses the strategy so that civilians held a demonstration against the Government for the end of Mursi regime. The vulnerable state of Egypt will make it easier for military conflict into the political realm, which is also backed by the United States who give political and economic support due to his position as a Super Power.
