Further special gratitude to every single individual who had existed in my life and helped me intentionally and unintentionally, at certain points, particularly due to the making of this undergraduate thesis. I prefer not to mention one by one because every single of you possess a special place right in the center of the space where I had placed you on. No numbers are needed, because I know you knew what number you are (One, of course). This is not an act of trying to be exceptional. It is just the way I think this should be. Thank you.
