

ABSTRACT

A referendum that was held on September 18th 2014 in Scotland, is a form of demands by some people who want to Scotland be independent country. Referendum won by group of Pro-The Great of Britanian had defeated of Pro-Scotland's independent deputed by Alex Salmond as Chairman of Scotland National Party and Scotland's First Minister. Failure of Pro-Independent is driven by some factors. Is because of some people have not sure with independence of Scotland and still wants to join with The Great of Britanian. In addition, the bid devolution broader in terms of taxes and control health, is also urge largest citizens to be more Pro-Great of Britanian.

As a large of country unified, Britanian use a special approach in pulling the interest of Scotand's peoples to keep join with The United Kingdom. This approach by relying on lack of readiness Scotland to face indepedece. For example, there is no certainly in determination of currency to be used. And give bid to peoples of Scotlands that if join Britanian may get greater advantage. Including of high income tax.

Keywords: Referendum 2014 Scotland, devolution, Alex Salmond, UK, Great of Britanian