

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter concludes the undergraduate thesis. First of all, the summarizes on developing and evaluating the quality resilience of Islamic banking in Indonesia by elaborating on the characteristic of pressure index. Secondly, the undergraduate thesis provides and suggest to policymakers and Islamic banks that need to be considered concerning the resilience. Finally, the undergraduate thesis opens up some potential areas for future research and development.