

CHAPTER V CONCLUSION

Japan as a nation that has great economic development in the 1970's, had already seen as a nation who could lead the economy of develop countries for their national interest, but Japan left bad image in some Southeast Asia nations. Japan found the way to change that image not only with doing diplomacy to get back its good image, but also introducing their cultures to the world through cultures diplomacy with Japan Foundation as its agent.

The establishment of Japan Foundation in Southeast Asia was caused by International cooperation interest on cultures field, their agenda is to introduce Japan cultures to International nations because they believed that it will create good image on the nations' point of view although they ever conquered them in the past.

Japanese government also believed that communication is crucial thing, that's why Japan at the first establishment of Japan Foundation, introduced Japanese language and taught it as an important thing to reach the first purpose. Japan foundation has languages division that controls the whole events that related to Japanese language in Indonesia.

Based on the research that conduct by the writer, Japan image were revived by the influence of Japan Foundations through many program especially in the low politics matters like cultural and arts exhibitions in many regions in Indonesia, this result can be seen in the chapter four of this thesis that writer included some table and chart to prove the hypothesis. Nowadays, Indonesian society has accepted Japan Foundation Jakarta without feeling worried or threatened until now. Through Japan Foundation Jakarta, Indonesian society can learn something from Japan that there is values on appreciating each other cultures.
