Conclusion and Recommendation

In this last chapter, the researcher conveys the conclusion and recommendation. The conclusion is a brief explanation of this research. Next, there are some recommendation for teacher, students, and another researcher.

Conclusion

The research question of this research is “How is students’ motivation in learning English at Madrasah Mu’allimaat Muhammadiyah Yogyakarta?” To find out the answer of the research question, the researcher distributed the questionnaire and analyzed it by using descriptive statistic in SPSS program. The result showed that most of the students’ grade XI at MMMY has high motivation. The three highest motivations came from the statements that they really want to know anything about English, they will learn English seriously, and they will learn English because of their own willingness. These three highest scores were included in intrinsic motivation.

Recomendation

From the result of this research, the researcher gives several recommendations. The first is to the students. Because the result showed that the students had high motivation in learning English, it is recommended that they maintain their motivation. The second recommendation is to the teachers. The researcher recommends that the teachers support and maintain the students’ motivation in learning English through their teaching activities eventhough the students already have high motivation. Thirdly, the researcher recommends the other researcher that they conduct wider focuses. Because this research has limitation in measuring students' motivation by only using intrinsic motivation, the next researchers are recommended to include integrative, instrumental and extrinsic motivation to measure students' motivation.
